"To someone who lives and breathes film,
the Toshiba HD DVD player is the ultimate movie machine."

Michael Imperioli — actor/writer/director

Film. It's what makes me tick. From B-movies to giant musicals and everything in between — why, I'll even watch an occasional gangster movie.

That's why if you love movies, I must tell you about something I believe is one of the greatest things to happen to film in a long while: Toshiba's HD DVD player. To me, it offers a superior video and sound experience with more vivid images and colors. It allows me to experience the full potential of my High Definition TV.

As far as I'm concerned, it's the ultimate movie experience!

With the Toshiba HD DVD player, I can watch my new HD DVD movies in hi-def. It even makes the DVDs I already own look better.

Toshiba's HD DVD player, DVD now in High Definition. It's what everyone's been waiting for.

PISTONS LEADERS

Recognized as one of the most successful owners in the National Basketball Association for over 30 years, Detroit Pistons Managing Partner William Davidson can be credited for a majority of the success the organization has enjoyed. Detroit's 1989, 1990 and 2004 World Championships can be directly attributed to Davidson, the club's majority owner since 1974, and under his direction, the Pistons have been considered one of the league's elite franchises for over 20 years.

During the 2003-04 sports year, he became the first owner in sports history to win championships in three different professional leagues. The Pistons returned to glory, winning the organization's third championship in franchise history, the Tampa Bay Lightning won their first Stanley Cup and the Shock won its first WNBA Championship.

With a franchise-record six straight seasons of recording 50 or more wins, the Pistons have won 325 regular season games (.661 winning percentage), including a franchise-record 63 wins in 2005-06. The club has compiled 64 playoff wins in that same span and made five consecutive trips to the Eastern Conference Finals for the second time in franchise history. Detroit has won five Central Division titles in the last six seasons and eight overall since 1987-88. Only the San Antonio Spurs have won more division titles in the same 20-year span.

He continues to keep the team at the league's forefront with such amenities as a state-of-the-art practice facility, solely designed for the Pistons. Team members are able to use the facilities all summer long while working on personal off-season conditioning goals. It will be used for the team's training camp for the 12th straight year, alleviating the need to go off-site for the preseason.

Davidson's world champion Pistons were the first professional sports team to own their own plane, Roundball One. Roundball Two, a newer, larger, multimillion-dollar aircraft was purchased and refurbished in the summer of 1998 for the organization. Its 42 luxury seats and state-of-the-art video system allows the Pistons to fly in true, first-class comfort.

Davidson became one of just a few multi-sport, major players in 1999, when he, along with Palace Sports and Entertainment partners David Hermelin and the late Robert Sosnick, purchased the Tampa Bay Lightning of the National Hockey League. Davidson's vision for duplicating the success of the Pistons and their home, The Palace of Auburn Hills, came to fruition during the 2003-04 season in Tampa, when the Lightning hoisted the Stanley Cup in front of a capacity crowd at the St. Pete Times Forum.

The Shock joined the Washington Mystics as the first two expansion teams in the WNBA in 1998 and the team was an immediate success in the upstart league, finishing with a 17-13 record in the Eastern Conference in their inaugural season. Recording a league-best 24-10 record in 2007, the Shock missed a bid to win back-to-back WNBA Championships, losing to Phoenix in Game 5 of The Finals in front of a league record 22,076 fans at The Palace. The 2006 Shock won its second WNBA Championship in a 3-2 series victory over the Sacramento Monarchs. The 2003 season was a banner year for the Shock as they recorded a league-best 25-9 record and were crowned WNBA Champions by defeating the Los Angeles Sparks 2-1 in the WNBA Finals. The Shock set a WNBA attendance record (22,076) in Game 3 of the WNBA Finals and was the first team since 1890 to go from the worst team in a professional sports league to the best team.

With the busiest amphitheater in the country in DTE Energy Music Theatre (purchased in 1990), Palace Sports and Entertainment now has the ability to bring the best in summer entertainment to its clientele. In 1988-89, the Pistons began play in The Palace, a state-of-the-art arena built with Davidson's financial support: a facility, which when combined with the Pistons, forms the foundation of his entertainment business. The company also added management of the Meadow Brook Music Festival in the summer of 1994, further developing the entertainment division of Palace Sports and Entertainment.

The Pistons have played in the postseason in 18 of the past 24 years, including 10 of the past 12 seasons. Davidson acquired the Detroit Pistons in 1974 from the late Fred Zollner, the man who founded the team in Fort Wayne, Indiana in the 1940s. Zollner later moved the franchise to Detroit before the 1957-58 season.

Interested in a wide variety of sports, Davidson is one of the most knowledgeable heads of a NBA franchise. He can usually be found sitting courtside at all Pistons home games, and has studied many players and coaches in the league and is able to make some very astute observations.

Davidson's athletic history dates back many years and has continued alongside his business career. He was a high school and college trackman and played football in the Navy during World War II. Davidson was an inaugural inductee into the Jewish Sports Hall of Fame.

The Pistons' majority owner likes success and has known it in his business interests. That's why now, the success of the Detroit Pistons comes as no surprise to those who are aware of Davidson's ability to manage people. His secret is simple: Hire competent managers and place the responsibility on them.

Educated in Business Law, Davidson received a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration from the University of Michigan and earned a Juris Doctor's Degree from Wayne State University.

After three years, Davidson gave up his law practice to take over a wholesale drug company. He rescued it from bankruptcy and turned it around in three years. After this success, he did the same with a surgical supply company. The next step was to take the Guardian Glass Company, the family business, pay off all debts and head it into the profitable direction the company now enjoys. Today, Guardian Industries remains the flagship of his corporate interests. Its world headquarters are located on the same property as The Palace and the Pistons practice facility in Auburn Hills, Michigan.

Davidson's previous track record has paved the way for the Pistons, The Palace and DTE Energy Music Theatre. His formula for success, which turned the Pistons around and made The Palace one of the top arenas in the world, carries over into the DTE Energy Music Theatre, now considered one of the top amphitheatres in the country.

Davidson's management talents are continually on display in NBA circles, where he served as Chairman of the Board of Governors and has been active on several committees, including the one that selected former NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien in 1975.

Davidson's involvement in the Detroit community is well documented. In 1997 he was honored for his lifelong philanthropic efforts, locally, nationally and internationally, by the Council of Michigan Foundations. The same year, he was listed in a New York Times article as one of America's most generous donors. Davidson was also one of the "founding fathers" who originated the Pistons/Palace Foundation, a charitable vehicle that has donated more than $20 million dollars in cash and merchandise since 1989. In January, 1995 the foundation worked in conjunction with the City of Detroit's Parks and Recreation Department to establish the Partnership to Adopt and Renovate Parks for Kids (PARK) Program. The program provides for restoration of Detroit parks, basketball courts, baseball diamonds, running tracks and playground equipment.

In 1992, he donated $30 million to his alma mater, the University of Michigan's School of Business Administration. The grant to establish the William Davidson Institute will provide assistance in a special program to help develop market economies throughout the world. He has also endowed the William Davidson Graduate School of Jewish Education at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in New York with a $15 million gift, and the American Technion Society to establish the world's first educational institution entirely dedicated to the international management of technology-based companies at the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology. In 1999, the Davidson Institute of Science Education was established at the Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovot, Israel. His $20 million gift was the largest private donation ever given to the Institute that is a leading international science research center and graduate school.

Locally Davidson has donated a renewable $2 million gift to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra that enables the organization to make long-term touring plans both in the U.S. and internationally and pledged to fight cancer with a gift of $1 million to support collaborative research, prevention and early detection programs in breast and pediatric cancers at the Karmanos Cancer Institute and Children's Research Center of Michigan.

The Detroit Pistons ownership group includes Legal Counsel Oscar Feldman, and Advisory Board Members Warren Coville, Bud Gerson, Dorothy Gerson, Ann Newman and William Wetsman.

Davidson and his wife, Karen, currently reside in Bloomfield Hills. He has two grown children, Ethan and Marla.

MANAGING PARTNER

WILLIAM DAVIDSON

Tom Wilson enters his 16th season as president of the Detroit Pistons and 19th as president of Palace Sports and Entertainment, Inc. During his 30-year tenure as the team's top business executive, the Pistons have won three NBA Championships (1989, 1990, 2004) and evolved into one of the best-marketed and most highly-valued teams in professional sports.

Palace Sports & Entertainment has enjoyed unprecedented success over the past five years, becoming the first sports franchise to win three major titles (NBA Championship, Stanley Cup and WNBA Championship) during the 2003-04 sports year. The Detroit Shock won its second WNBA crown in 2006 and, in February 2005, ESPN The Magazine named the Detroit Pistons as the number one franchise in professional sports according to its annual survey. This past season the Pistons made their fifth consecutive trip to the Eastern Conference Finals for the second time in franchise history and won their fifth Central Division crown in six years.

Elevating Wilson to the presidency in 1992, Managing Partner William Davidson stressed the importance of building a structure within the organization that will have a long-term effect.

Since joining the Pistons in 1977, Wilson has handled all business aspects of not only the Detroit Pistons, but also of Palace Sports and Entertainment, which includes The Palace of Auburn Hills, DTE Energy Music Theatre, Meadow Brook Music Festival and the Detroit Shock. He was named Employee of the Year for 1990 by Guardian Industries, the Pistons' and The Palace's parent company. The award marked the first time Guardian Industries gave the honor to an employee outside of its direct glass manufacturing and fabrication divisions.

The Palace of Auburn Hills was designed largely around Wilson's input and he was responsible for staffing and developing organizational philosophies for the arena. Wilson's ability to create a family atmosphere among his staff and guests has produced entertainment at its best. Enhancing the Palace experience, The Windsor Casino Club was introduced in October 2001 and the Caesars Windsor Suite Level opened in September 2002 offering fans additional entertainment opportunities before and after every Palace event. The popular KeyBank Club and Vito Anthony Suites were added on the event level of the building in 2005. These new areas allow guests to experience unique views and exciting entertainment possibilities at each Palace event. Further expansion in 2006 yielded the sparkling new Comcast Pavilion and concourse. The concourse level boasts several food and beverage options including Detroit staples Big Boy, Buffalo Wild Wings, Sanders Ice Cream and the popular Red Bull Bar. Fans can further enjoy their experience by visiting the upscale Ameriprise Club located on the top level of the Atrium.

Under his direction, The Palace has earned Arena of the Year awards nine times by Performance magazine, beginning with New Venue of the Year in 1988. The Palace was also named Arena of the Year by Pollstar after receiving that publication's Best New Concert Venue honors for 1988. Wilson's direction was instrumental in the acquisition and renovation of DTE Energy Music Theatre as well, and he remains actively involved in the operational phase and the ongoing improvement of the facility.

DTE Energy Music Theatre has been named the nation's busiest, top-grossing or highest attended outdoor venue by Amusement Business in each of its 16 summers under Wilson's guidance. It was named Best Outdoor Concert Venue in Pollstar's 2000 Readers' Poll and has also been nominated Amphitheatre of the Year during each summer of PS & E ownership. In 1994 Palace Sports and Entertainment assumed management of Meadow Brook Music Festival on the grounds of Oakland University in Rochester, Michigan.

As executive administrator of Palace Sports and Entertainment, Wilson is ultimately responsible for the day-to-day operations of its sales, advertising, marketing and broadcasting departments. Wilson directed the company's purchase of the National Hockey League's 2004 Stanley Cup Champion Tampa Bay Lightning along with the leasehold rights to the St. Pete Times Forum and served as Chief Executive Officer and Governor of the team.

Under Wilson's guidance, the Detroit Shock of the Women's National Basketball Association was added to Palace Sports and Entertainment in the summer of 1998. Recording a league-best 24-10 record in 2007, the Shock missed a bid to win back-to-back WNBA Championships, losing to Phoenix in Game 5 of The Finals in front of a league record 22,076 fans at The Palace. Detroit won its second WNBA Championship in 2006, following a 3-2 series victory over the Sacramento Monarchs. The 2003 season was a banner year for the Shock as they recorded a league-best 25-9 record and were crowned WNBA Champions by defeating the Los Angeles Sparks 2-1 in the WNBA Finals. The Shock set a WNBA attendance record (22,076) in Game 3 of the WNBA Finals and was the first team since 1890 to go from the worst team in a professional sports league to the best team.

A native Detroiter, Wilson joined the Pistons in 1977 as Sales Director and was promoted to Chief Executive Officer shortly thereafter. He graduated from Cass Technical High School and received a Bachelor's of business administration from Wayne State University. Upon graduation, Wilson worked for the Los Angeles Lakers, the Los Angeles Kings, and the Forum.

Wilson serves on the William Beaumont Hospital Board of Trustees and was named the 1994 Executive of the Year by the Oakland Executives Association. He is also active in the Boy Scouts of America, which honored him with The Distinguished Citizen award in 1988, the Board of Directors for Boy's Hope and CATCH. Wilson was also instrumental in the development and implementation of the Pistons/Palace Foundation that has provided more than $40 million in grants and donations to deserving organizations and individuals throughout the state since its inception.

In 2002, he was presented with the prestigious Ernst & Young Master Entrepreneur Award for the State of Michigan and in 2003 he received the Gerald R. Ford Sportsperson of the Year award from the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame for his contributions to the community.

Wilson and his wife, Linda, reside in Oakland Township with daughter, Brooke, and son Kevin.

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, PALACE SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT/PISTONS

PISTONS LEADERS

Since being named as president of basketball operations on June 6, 2000, Joe Dumars has transformed the organization from a team that won 32 games in 2000-01 to a team that has compiled a record of 325-167 (.661) over the last six years. In 2006-07 the club made its fifth consecutive Eastern Conference Finals appearance for the second time in franchise history, won 50-plus games for a franchise record sixth consecutive season and won its fifth Central Division title in six years. In 2005-06, Detroit recorded its best regular-season record in franchise history (64-18). In 2004-05, the club won its second consecutive Eastern Conference Championship and reached the NBA Finals in consecutive seasons for the first time since 1989 and 1990. Over the last six years, the club has compiled 63 playoff wins and made five consecutive trips to the Eastern Conference Finals, the most since the Los Angeles Lakers went to six straight from 1984 to 1989.

Bold personnel decisions and an unwillingness to settle for mediocrity have become trademarks of Dumars' leadership over the last seven years, and, as the Pistons look to return to the NBA Finals for the third time in five years, the 2003 Sporting News NBA Executive of the Year continues striving to keep the organization among the NBA's elite.

Known as one of the great competitors in the NBA throughout his 14-year playing career, "Joe D" — as he commonly referred to around the Detroit area — is entering his eighth full season as president of basketball operations in 2007-08 and his 23rd overall in the NBA. The 44-year-old Louisiana native was promoted to his current position after serving as the club's vice president of player personnel during the 1999-00 season.

Dumars' keen eye for talent has paved the way for Detroit's resurgence. His personnel moves have landed Detroit 2004 NBA Finals MVP Chauncey Billups as well as NBA All-Stars Richard Hamilton, Rasheed Wallace and Antonio McDyess. In addition, Dumars has drafted key talent equally important to Detroit's current and future success. Tayshaun Prince (No. 23 pick in 2002), Jason Maxiell (No. 26 pick in 2005) and Amir Johnson (No. 56 pick in 2005) all play important roles in the future success of the franchise.

While the success and honors the club has enjoyed over the last six seasons has been well documented, Dumars continues to stress the importance of continued improvement. That is why the 2007 offseason was as busy and equally important as the last. Dumars re-signed Billups to a multi-year contract, re-signed promising young forward Amir Johnson and added free agent Jarvis Hayes to supply depth at the small forward position. The club also drafted perimeter players Rodney Stuckey (Eastern Washington), Arron Afflalo (UCLA) and Sammy Mejia (DePaul) with the 15th, 27th and 57th pick, respectively, in the 2007 NBA Draft. All three players have the talent and the opportunity to contribute to the team right away.

Dumars' Detroit beginning coincided with one of the most successful eras in Pistons basketball history. Following a 46-36 rookie campaign in 1985-86, Dumars' teams won 50-plus games each of the next five seasons and two NBA Championships (1989, 1990). He won the first of many NBA honors following the team's 63-19 record in 1988-89, being named to the NBA's All-Defensive First Team. The six-time NBA All-Star was named Most Valuable Player of the 1989 NBA Finals, following the club's successful back-to-back defense of the NBA Championship. Dumars was named first team NBA All-Rookie in 1985-86 and first team NBA All-Defense four times (1988-89, 1989-90, 1991-92 and 1992-93). He was named All-NBA Third Team for 1989-90 and 1990-91 and All-NBA Second Team in 1992-93 when he averaged a career-best 23.5 points per game.

Dumars retired from the game as a player following the 1998-99 NBA season and moved to the front office with a goal of helping return the team to the place that he and his "Bad Boys" teammates knew so well; the NBA Finals. He played in The NBA Finals three times, winning championship rings in 1989 and 1990. His basketball acumen and insights into the game and its players will undoubtedly be beneficial to the organization as it continues to pursue its goals. Dumars, who became the seventh Pistons player to have their jersey retired, also had the NBA Sportsmanship Award named after him on the same evening. The NBA Sportsmanship Award winner, which recognizes the NBA player who best represents the ideals of sportsmanship on the court, is presented with the Joe Dumars Trophy each year. Dumars was named the inaugural recipient of the NBA Sportsmanship Award in November 1996. Dumars' playing career was recognized with the highest of all honors when he officially enshrined into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in September 2006.

Drafted out of McNeese State with the 18th selection in the first round of the 1985 NBA Draft, Dumars went on to play 1,018 regular season games for Detroit in 14 seasons, making him the most tenured player in franchise history. He retired as the team's all-time leading three-point shooter with 990 made and its second all-time leading scorer with 16,401 points. The 6-foot-3 shooting guard also ranks second on Detroit's all-time list for assists (4,612), second in steals (902), third in field goals made (5,994), third in field goals attempted (13,026), third in free throws made (3,423) and third in free throws attempted (4,059).

In addition to his role with the Pistons, Dumars maintains a partnership in Joe Dumars Fieldhouse, an indoor multi-sports and entertainment complex located in Shelby Township. A second Joe Dumars Fieldhouse was opened in 2004 in Detroit, Michigan. Dumars was appointed to the executive committee of the United States Tennis Association in January 1999 and was most recently inducted into the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame and Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame in 2003.

Born on May 24, 1963, in Shreveport, Louisiana, Joe and his wife, Debbie, reside in Detroit with their two children, Jordan (16) and Aren (14).

PISTONS LEADERS

John Hammond is entering his seventh year as vice president of basketball operations for the Detroit Pistons. He was promoted to his current position after serving as the club's director of player personnel during the 2001-02 season. Hammond is responsible for directing day-to-day operations of the basketball operations department, handling player personnel issues and assisting in roster development. The 53-year old brings over 28 years of coaching and administrative experience (17 professional/11 collegiate).

Hammond spent five seasons with the Pistons as a scouting director and assistant coach from 1994-1999 under Doug Collins and Alvin Gentry. Collins appointed him as an assistant coach in 1997, a position that he remained in until 1999. When Collins was replaced by Gentry, he named Hammond as his top assistant. Detroit made three playoff appearances during Hammond's tenure as an assistant coach (1996, 1997 and 1999), winning 54 games during the 1996-97 season.

The Zion, Illinois native completed his second tour of duty with the Los Angeles Clippers during the 2000-01 season, again serving as the top assistant to Gentry. Hammond was a large factor in the club's 16-game turnaround, helping to develop first-year players Darius Miles, Keyon Dooling and Quinten Richardson. The Clippers enjoyed a large amount of success with Hammond around as the club made two consecutive playoff appearances (1992 and 1993) when he served as an assistant coach to Larry Brown during his first stint with the organization from 1990-93.

Hammond began his NBA career in 1989 as an assistant coach and scout with the expansion Minnesota Timberwolves, helping put together their roster during the team's inaugural season.

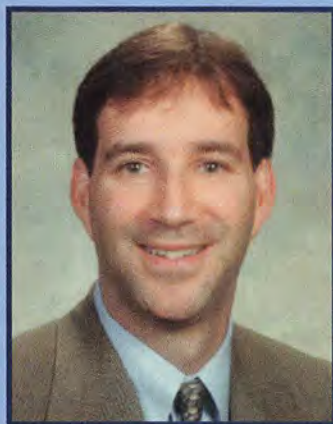

Prior to entering the NBA ranks, Hammond spent six seasons at Southwest Missouri State where he helped lead the school to three consecutive NCAA Tournament berths (1986, 1987 and 1988) and an NIT invitation in 1985. He also spent two seasons at Houston Baptist (1981-83), two seasons at Nebraska (1979-81) and three seasons at the high school level in the state of Nebraska.

Hammond attended Greenville College in Illinois where he earned his Bachelor's degree while lettering twice in basketball and serving as a student assistant coach.

When away from the basketball court, Hammond enjoys spending time with his wife, Marsha, and their daughter, Lauryn Shay (17).

PISTONS COACHES

DETROIT PISTONS 17 2007-08 YEARBOOK

PISTONS COACHES

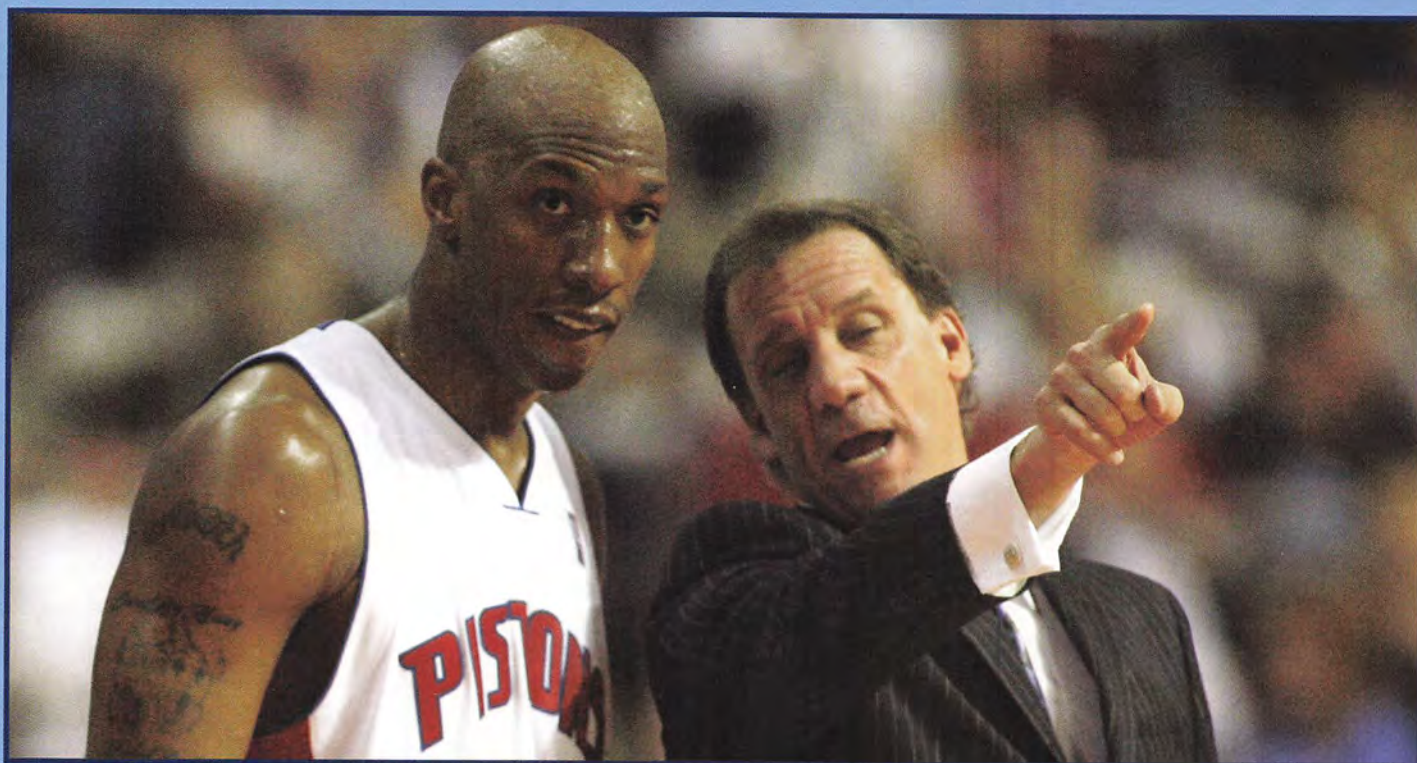

When Joe Dumars hired Flip Saunders as the 25th head coach in franchise history on July 21, 2005, he knew that he was hiring a coach that embodies the core values of what Detroit Basketball has been built on: hard work, dedication and a team-first attitude. In 18-plus years of coaching at the professional level, Saunders has been successful at each stop and cemented his reputation as one of the finest coaches in the game.

Last season, Saunders guided the club to 50-plus wins for a franchise record sixth consecutive season and helped the team win its fifth Central Division title in six years. He recorded his 500th win as a head coach, becoming the 26th coach in NBA history to reach that pinnacle. He also became the fastest coach in franchise history to win 100 games and earned NBA Coach of the Month honors following a 10-1 record in February. In 2005-06, Saunders became the Pistons winningest first-year coach with a franchise record 64 victories. He led the club to a 24-3 record after 27 games, becoming the second coach in NBA history to start a season 24-3 in his first year as head coach of a new team (Bill Sharman led the Lakers to a 39-3 start in 1971-72). He became the only coach in NBA history to win Eastern Conference Coach of the Month honors for three consecutive months (November, December, January) and was the third Pistons coach in franchise history to be selected as Eastern Conference Head Coach at the NBA All-Star game. During the year, the club tied a franchise record for most home victories (37), set a franchise record for road wins (27), recorded 10-plus victories in five consecutive months (November-March), set a franchise record for wins in December (13) and tallied a franchise record 13-2 mark in January.

With 528 NBA coaching victories, Saunders ranks 24th among all-time NBA head coaches and ninth among active NBA head coaches. Ranked alongside all-time NBA coaches in their first 12 seasons, Saunders' .579 winning percentage is only topped by Phil Jackson (.746), Pat Riley (.722), Don Nelson (.611), Red Auerbach (.594) and Jerry Sloan (.593).

Prior to joining Detroit, Saunders spent nine-plus years with the Minnesota Timberwolves (1995-2005), guiding the club to eight consecutive playoff appearances and a franchise-best 58-24 record in 2003-04 – the top record in the Western Conference. During his tenure in Minnesota, he won NBA Western Conference Coach of the Month honors four times (April '04, February '03, January '01, January '00). As a head coach in the Continental Basketball Association for seven years, Saunders was named CBA Coach of the Year in 1990 and 1992 while coaching the La Crosse Catbirds to two CBA Championships. In September 2001, he guided the United States men's basketball team to a perfect 5-0 record and gold medal at the Goodwill Games in Brisbane, Australia.

Saunders' time with Minnesota represented the best years in the franchise's 16-year history and placed him as the organization's winningest coach. He posted a winning record in six of his nine full seasons as head coach, won 50-plus games in a season four times and compiled a career record of 411-326 (.558). From 1997-2004, Saunders guided the Timberwolves to eight consecutive playoff appearances, culminating in a trip to the Western Conference Finals in 2004. During the 1997-98 season, he guided Minnesota to its first winning season in franchise history (45-37) and its first postseason victory.

Saunders' impressive CBA coaching resume includes seven consecutive seasons of 30 or more victories, two CBA Championships (1990, 1992), two CBA Coach of the Year honors (1990, 1992) and 23 CBA-to-NBA player promotions. He ranks third all-time in the CBA with 253 career victories during stops with the Rapid City Thrillers (1988-89), La Crosse Catbirds (1989-94) and Sioux Falls Skyforce (1994-95).

The Cleveland, Ohio native began his successful coaching career at Golden Valley Lutheran College, where he compiled a 92-13 record, including a perfect 56-0 mark at home in four seasons. In 1981, he joined the coaching staff at this alma mater – The University of Minnesota – as an assistant and helped the Golden Gophers to the 1982 Big Ten Championship. After five seasons at Minnesota, Saunders moved to an assistant coach position at the University of Tulsa, where he worked for two seasons before heading to the pro ranks.

Saunders, 52, was an All-America basketball player at Cuyahoga Heights High School in Cleveland. During his senior season, 1973, he was named Ohio's Class A High School Basketball Player of the Year after averaging a state-high 32.0 points a game. He continued his basketball career at Minnesota, where he teamed with Kevin McHale, led the team to a then all-time school-best 24-3 record and started in 101 of his 103 career games.

Saunders was born February 23, 1955, in Cleveland, Ohio. He and his wife, Debbie, have four children: Ryan, a current member of the University of Minnesota basketball team, Mindy and twins, Rachel and Kimberly.

PISTONS COACHES

Terry Porter is entering his second season as an assistant coach with the Pistons after serving as head coach of the Milwaukee Bucks for two seasons (2003-05). He led the Bucks to a 41-41 record in his first season (2003-04) and a first-round playoff berth. During his two seasons as head coach, the Bucks recorded a mark of 71-93 overall and a 50-32 mark when playing at the Bradley Center.

Porter spent the 2002-03 season as an assistant coach with the Sacramento Kings, his first season in coaching after a distinguished 17-year NBA playing career with Portland, Minnesota, Miami and San Antonio. Porter's teams compiled a remarkable record of 815-547 (.598) during his career and only once failed to make the postseason. In 1,274 career games, Porter averaged 12.2 points, 5.6 assists and 1.24 steals during a career that included two All-Star berths (1991, 1993), two trips to the NBA Finals (1990, 1992) and 15,586 career points. He is 10th on the NBA's all-time assist list (7,160).

The Portland Trail Blazers selected Porter with the 24th overall pick in the 1985 NBA Draft. During his decade-long tenure in Portland, he helped lead the Trail Blazers to the NBA Finals twice and continues to hold the NBA Finals single-game record for the most free throws made, none missed – 15 (June 7, 1990 at Detroit). He was the recipient of the J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award in 1993, and remains as the Trail Blazers all-time assists leader with 5,319.

Porter signed as a free agent with the Minnesota Timberwolves prior to the 1995-96 season. Coached by Flip Saunders, he helped the Wolves achieve their first-ever playoff berth in 1996-97 and their first winning season the following year.

Porter was a standout collegian at the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point under Dick Bennett and holds a degree in communications. He was honored with a Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1999. He and his wife, Susie, have three children: Brianna, Franklin and Malcolm.

ASSISTANT COACH

TERRY PORTER

Dave Cowens is entering his second season with the Detroit Pistons as an assistant coach. He most recently served as head coach and general manager for the expansion Chicago Sky in the WNBA in 2006.

Cowens brings eight years of coaching experience to the Pistons, including six years as an NBA head coach. He served as a player/coach for the 1978-79 Boston Celtics and re-joined the NBA coaching ranks in 1997 with the Charlotte Hornets.

Cowens led Charlotte to their only back-to-back 50-win seasons in his first two seasons and posted a 109-70 (.609) with the Hornets from 1997-1999. He was named head coach of the Golden State Warriors in 2001, amassing a 25-80 record in two seasons. Overall, he's posted a 161-191 (.457) coaching record.

Originally selected by the Boston Celtics in the first round of the 1970 NBA Draft (fourth overall), Cowens enjoyed a prolific 11-year NBA playing career, including 10 seasons with Boston. The 6-9 center, who earned a reputation as a blue-collar player who outworked his opponents with hustle and desire, became the 14th player in Celtics franchise history to have his jersey (#18) retired on February 8, 1981. He earned NBA Co-Rookie of the Year honors in 1970-71 (along with Portland's Geoff Petrie) and the league's Most Valuable Player award in 1972-73, when he averaged career-high figures in both scoring (20.5) and rebounding (16.2)

Cowens averaged a double-double (points/rebounds) in each of his first eight NBA seasons, including his rookie campaign in 1970-71 (17.0 points and 15.0 rebounds). He was a member of two NBA Championship teams with the Celtics (1974, 1976), earned All-NBA Second Team honors three times (1973, 1975, 1976), NBA All-Defensive First Team honors once (1976), NBA All-Defensive Second Team honors twice (1975, 1980) and ranked among the league's top 10 leaders in rebounding seven times. Furthermore, he was a member of the Eastern Conference All-Star team on six occasions, highlighted by the 1973 classic in Chicago, when he earned MVP honors (15 points/13 rebounds). He collected 20 rebounds in his first-ever All-Star Game appearance in 1972.

A Kentucky native, Cowens attended Florida State University, where he still holds the single-game record for rebounds in a game (31). He and his wife, Deby, have two daughters, Meghan and Samantha.

game. He compiled career averages of 4.5 points, 1.6 rebounds and 1.2 assists in 667 NBA games and appeared in 36 career playoff games. Following four years at Georgia Southern, he played in Germany, Belgium, France (1990-92), the United States Basketball League (1992) and in the Continental Basketball Association (1992-93 and 1995-96).

Upon joining the Missouri staff in the summer of 1999, Kokoskov became the first European coach to hold a full-time position with an NCAA Division I-A school.

Prior to Kokoskov's move to the United States, he instructed Yugoslavia's top amateur and professional players for eight years, including a stint as the

During his tenure in Denver, he helped engineer personnel moves that shifted the Nuggets from a struggling team with no salary cap flexibility to one of the up-and-coming teams in the NBA. The Nuggets won 49 games in 2004-05, the fourth-most since the franchise joined the NBA in 1976. In 2003-04, the Nuggets posted the sixth-biggest turnaround in NBA history, improving their win total by 26 games and reaching the playoffs for the first time since 1995.

PISTONS BASKETBALL STAFF

One of the NBA's most respected and tenured trainers, Mike Abdenour enters his 29th year with the Detroit Pistons and his 32nd year in the league this season. Abdenour's name has been virtually synonymous with the Pistons since he first started as the team's trainer in 1975. He worked in Detroit for 17 seasons before joining the Philadelphia 76ers in 1992. After a three-year stay in Philadelphia, Abdenour returned to the Pistons in 1995.

The 2006-07 season marked Abdenour's 12th in Detroit since his return. Aside from his duties as the team's head athletic trainer, Abdenour also handles travel matters for the Pistons.

Abdenour has a reputation as one of the league's most active and vocal trainers. He was always considered an integral part of coach Chuck Daly's staff on the Pistons' championship teams of 1989 and 1990, leaving Detroit after the 1991-92 season to take the job in Philadelphia.

Abdenour originally joined the Pistons staff in 1975 making the jump to the professional level from Wayne State University. He has been a member of the NBA's tight training fraternity since making that move.

A long standing certified member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association as well as a Performance Enhancement Specialist with the National Academy Sports Medicine, Abdenour has handled a number of prestigious duties during his time in the NBA. Included on that list are serving as trainer for the 1979, 1994 and 2007 NBA All-Star games and the 1981 NBA All-Stars tour of mainland China. He served as secretary on the NBATA Executive Committee from 1987-89. He and his brother, Tom, made history of sorts in 1987, when they became the first brother training combination in professional sports as Tom was appointed trainer for the Golden State Warriors.

During the off-season Abdenour spends time with his wife, Janice, and his two sons Michael and Keith. Abdenour and his family reside in Grosse Pointe.

Strength and conditioning coach Arnie Kander begins his 16th season with the Detroit Pistons. Kander has been with the Pistons since the spring of 1992, when he became the team's first strength and conditioning coach. He works in conjunction with team trainer Mike Abdenour on the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of injuries for the Pistons. Kander's duties also include the design and implementation of specific programs that are aimed at enhancing individual players' flexibility, strength and aerobic conditioning.

An innovator in the strength and conditioning field, Kander has designed and developed the team's training area in its practice facility to meet the physical conditioning and developmental needs of NBA players. In addition to working with the team throughout the course of the season, Kander conducts an optional summer training program for each of the Detroit players at the practice facility. The program has proven to be quite successful and Kander gets credit for both the quick development of Detroit's young players and the continued conditioning of the team's veterans.

A 1987 graduate in physical therapy from Wayne State University, Kander began his career as the sports coordinator at Crittenton Fitness Institute. He then moved on to Rochester Knee and Sports Therapy where he worked as a staff therapist. Kander began his association with the Pistons while working at Rochester Knee and Sports.

Kander's interest in strength and conditioning began during his career as a professional dancer with the Virginia Ballet Company from 1983-86. He has since submitted several research projects on isokinetic strength testing, jump training and developing a jump platform system. While working for the Pistons, Kander has consulted and developed conditioning programs for some of the Detroit area's finest professional and amateur athletes.

Kander and his wife, Denise, have two children; son Ian and daughter Lindsay. The family resides in Lake Orion, Michigan.

WHAT IS NBA CARES?

NBA Cares is the league's global community outreach initiative that addresses important social issues with an emphasis on programs that support education, health-related causes and youth and family development. The NBA, its teams and players implement and execute programs that impact and inspire children and families worldwide.

Through NBA CARES, the league, players and teams will raise and contribute $100 million for charity, donate more than 1 million hours of hands-on volunteer service to communities worldwide and build more than 100 places where kids can learn and play over the next five years.

WHAT IS READ TO ACHIEVE?

Part of the league-wide NBA Cares initiative, Read to Achieve stresses the importance of literacy and education to youth. The Pistons launched Read to Achieve in October 2001, and since then, the team has read stories and distributed books to thousands of children. The Pistons have also renovated multiple Live, Learn and Play Centers and provided books and funds to dozens of schools and nonprofits. Reaching an estimated 50 million children per year nationwide, Read to Achieve is the most extensive educational outreach initiative in the history of professional sports.

DETROIT PISTONS LIVE, LEARN AND PLAY CENTER RENOVATIONS

The organization has renovated a league-high 17 Live, Learn and Play Centers. For each renovation, the Pistons commission new paint, new carpet, new furniture and new technology as needed for the existing site, and the Pistons also develop graphics of players, Pistons personalities and basketball-themed visuals to bring new life into each room. To top it all off, the Pistons provide hundreds of new and gently-used books for each renovated library or resource center. Previous Live, Learn and Play Center renovations include school libraries and the Children's Hospital of Michigan lobby. To learn more about our Live, Learn and Play Center renovations, please visit www.pistons.com/community/rta.

Read to Achieve promotes the value of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. For further information regarding Read to Achieve, please contact the Detroit Pistons Community Relations Department at 248.377.8243 or visit www.pistons.com.

The Palace of Auburn Hills, home of the Detroit Pistons (NBA), Detroit Shock (WNBA) and numerous concerts, family shows and special events, is entering its 20th year of operation.

Built and operated by Arena Associates, The Palace was headed by Pistons managing partner, William Davidson, along with the late David Hermelin and the late Robert Sosnick. An all-encompassing entertainment venue, it quickly became one of the nation's top concert facilities. After just one season, The Palace was honored by two entertainment trade publications, being named "New Venue of the Year" by Performance and "Best New Concert Venue" by Pollstar.

Overall, The Palace has been nominated "Arena of the Year" 10 times by Performance magazine and won the award seven times. It has also earned 10 "Arena of the Year" nominations from Pollstar magazine and won the honor in 1992. Since its inception, The Palace has hosted almost every major touring concert act.

Since opening in 1988, The Palace underwent more than $107 million in venue renovations throughout the years, including the newly added $30 million Comcast Pavilion. With the cost of the building and every dollar spent on additions and improvements being privately financed, The Palace continues to uphold its reputation as one of the world's premier sports and entertainment venues. Some of the other more notable additions include a large atrium which was completed in 1996. It contains three levels of offices, a storage facility and an expanded entrance with numerous amenities. This was followed by the addition of the 12,000 square-foot Casino Windsor Club on the concourse level and the Traverse Bay Entertainment suite levels for both the 100 and 300-level suites. In 2004, a Light Emitting Diodes (LED) board was installed, allowing for the display of electronic signage around the entire arena and around the state-of-the-art hanging scoreboard during events.

The Palace continued its legacy as America's most innovative arena in 2005 by undertaking its largest enhancement project since its opening. The new phase included the addition of two exclusive courtside lounge and clubs. The KeyBank Club is located under the arena's east seating area, which opened November 2005. The KeyBank Club services the five attached 450 square-foot Vito Anthony luxury suites as well as all front row season ticket holders. Club 53 has a private entrance at the Traverse Bay Suite Level at the north side of the building and is home to the largest suites in the arena. Each of the eight suites averages 1,000 square feet. Club 53 opened February 2006.

The new phase also includes a 65,000 square feet expansion of the North Entrance, named the Comcast Pavilion, which opened April 2006. This project created a new grand entrance, which provides guests with additional concourse space, additional box office windows and a new retail area. The new area increased dining options and amenities in The Palace with café areas featuring Big Boy and Buffalo Wild Wings, the Red Bull Bar and Bacardi Bar located on the concourse level. The second level is the Ameriprise Financial Club, which has approximately 700 members. A Sanders Dessert

Stop, located on the concourse at the top of the West Entrance stairs, also debuted in spring 2006 and is open to guests for all Palace events.

Throughout the years, the organization has added several branches, now totaling 21. The growth led to a name change, Palace Sports and Entertainment, Inc. (PS&E), to reflect its ever-widening scope of operations. This expansion culminated in 1990 when it purchased DTE Music Theatre (then known as Pine Knob). Since its first summer operating the venue in 1991, the amphitheater has been named the nation's busiest or top-grossing outdoor venue every summer by Amusement Business or Pollstar. Winner of Pollstar's "Best Major Outdoor Concert Venue" in 2000, DTE has been nominated 11 consecutive times for this award which is voted on by a reader's poll. The award capped off the amphitheater's most successful year in which it posted its highest-ever total attendance and was listed as the top amphitheater in Amusement Business' year-end charts and the top-selling outdoor venue on the year-end list of Pollstar.

In 1994, PS&E took over management of Meadow Brook Music Festival, which is housed on the campus of Oakland University in Rochester Hills. Both The Palace of Auburn Hills and Meadow Brook Music Festival have been named "Prime Site Award" winners by Facilities magazine in two consecutive years, 2003 and 2004.

The Shock joined the PS&E family in 1998 and made an immediate impact by posting the highest winning percentage at the time by an expansion team in any professional sport during its inaugural season. They accomplished that feat by going 17-13 for a 56% winning percentage. The Shock later delivered the organization's third championship by winning the 2003 WNBA title and the fifth championship by winning again in 2006.

The company continues to grow as minor league baseball team, the Asheville Tourists, a Class A affiliate of the Colorado Rockies, was added to PS&E ownership during the summer of 2005.

PISTONS AND AMERICAN RED CROSS MICHIGAN HEROES

The Pistons and American Red Cross Michigan Heroes program started during the 2004-05 season and continued into 2006-07 with powerful on-court recognitions. The program encourages fans to nominate a person or group from their local community who has gone above and beyond the call of duty. The hero is then recognized at a Pistons home game for their accomplishments. To nominate a hero, who can come from any walk of life, during the 2007-08 season, fans should complete an on-line nomination form at www.pistons.com/community.

PISTONS-PALACE FOUNDATION SILENT AUCTION PROGRAM

The Pistons-Palace Foundation silent auction program offers unique, autographed memorabilia from area sports teams including the Pistons, Shock, Tigers, Lions, Red Wings and college teams at every home game. Silent auction stands are located on the Month. All proceeds raised from sales of the fundraising item are reinvested in the community for education and literacy initiatives. In the past, the organization has sold wristbands, bobblehead pins and light-up necklaces as the fundraiser. Be sure to stop by the Comcast Pavilion this March to help support the campaign.

concourse at section 108/109, at the Comcast Pavilion and inside the Casino Windsor Club. Both framed and unframed items are available for a range of costs.

Most items are open for bidding, while other "BUY NOW" items are available for purchase on the spot. More than 45 items are available every game and bidding closes at the end of halftime. Items are also available at pistons.com/community through an online auction. All proceeds benefit the Pistons-Palace Foundation for education, youth and literacy initiatives.

ROCK FINANCIAL AND DETROIT PISTONS KNOW YOUR BLACK HISTORY TOUR WITH RICK MAHORN

The Detroit Pistons, the Detroit Shock and Rock Financial, for the third consecutive year, will launch a five-stop tour that will encourage students in southeast Michigan to know their local black history and give them an opportunity to win college scholarships. The 2007 tour touched the lives of more than 1,500 students at 10 southeast Michigan schools and 11 students were presented with a total of $10,000 in scholarships. Students compete for the scholarships by delivering a presentation on what black history means to them in the form of a speech, rap, poem, dance or other artistic element. All winners are honored during halftime of a Pistons game.

PISTONS AND ALLSTATE GOOD HANDS, WARM HANDS MITTENDRIVE

Each year the Pistons and Allstate Insurance Company partner together to collect hundreds of mittens and winter accessories for needy families. Fans can bring new mittens, gloves or scarves to a Pistons home game during Thanksgiving and the holiday season. Collected mittens are donated to youth groups, such as the Boys and Girls Club of Southeastern Michigan. Last season, more than 600 winter accessories were collected.

Fans may drop off these winter accessories at the Comcast Pavilion.

STUDENT-ATHLETE OF THE MONTH SCHOLARSHIPS

American Community Mutual Insurance Company, the Detroit Pistons and Detroit Shock offer scholarships for Michigan student-athletes. Through the program, a male and female student-athlete will each receive a $1,000 scholarship during January, February, March and April. All applicants must be seniors in high school and plan to further their education upon graduation. The student must also attend a high school in Michigan and obtain an endorsement from a coach or athletic director as part of the application. Selected students will be honored on-court during a Pistons home game.

PISTONS AND FOX-2 MARCH IS READING MONTH CAMPAIGN

The Detroit Pistons, its Read to Achieve sponsors and WJBK FOX 2 team up to collect new and gently used books during "March is Reading Month." The campaign encourages fans to donate books at all Pistons home games during the month of March. Books are also collected at various Read to Achieve sponsor locations.

CHARITABLE DONATION PROGRAM

The Detroit Pistons support the community through donations of tickets and team merchandise. Thousands of individuals from local community organizations and schools attend Pistons games through ticket donations from the Pistons community relations department and the Pistons-Palace Foundation. In addition, in-kind donations such as autographed team merchandise and memorabilia are donated to registered nonprofit organizations. For more information, please visit www.pistons.com/community.

Pistons players also reach out to nonprofit organizations in Michigan by donating home game tickets. Last season, Chauncey Billups provided more than 600 tickets that were distributed to deserving young people and community organizations.

PISTONS AND DETROIT NEWSPAPERS BOWLING FOR KIDS

Presented by Rock Financial, the 2007 Bowling for Kids event was a huge success. Pistons players and personalities and other area celebrities attended the event, which raised almost $100,000 for the Pistons-Palace Foundation and Michigan K.I.D.S. All 46 lanes at Troy's Thunderbird Lanes were completely full and more than 320 people attended the event to bowl with celebrities and bid on silent and live auction items.

HOLIDAY INITIATIVES

Each year, the Pistons hold numerous holiday initiatives to benefit area youth. Many of these events are coordinated by a player's personal foundation while others are initiated by the organization. Typical events include Thanksgiving dinner celebrations, toy drives, clothing drives, food drives and shopping sprees for underprivileged children. Look for this season's holiday initiatives to get even bigger as the team plans to expand upon initiatives from years past to make an even greater impact during the time of giving.

STAND TALL WITH SHEED FOUNDATION

The Stand Tall With Sheed Foundation's mission is to promote the interests of its founder by making charitable contributions in communities where Rasheed Wallace has a presence. Funding recreation centers, youth programs, athletic teams and camps are central to the foundation's purpose. Each program promotes social, cultural and academic development for youth. Through his foundation, Wallace coordinated an annual coat drive to benefit the Salvation Army, renovated a resource center at Kettering High School, raised funds for charity through Bowling for Kids 2006 and brought youth-oriented nonprofits to Pistons games. For more information, please visit www.standtallwithsheed.com.

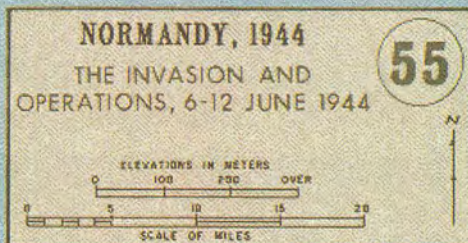

RIP CITY FOUNDATION

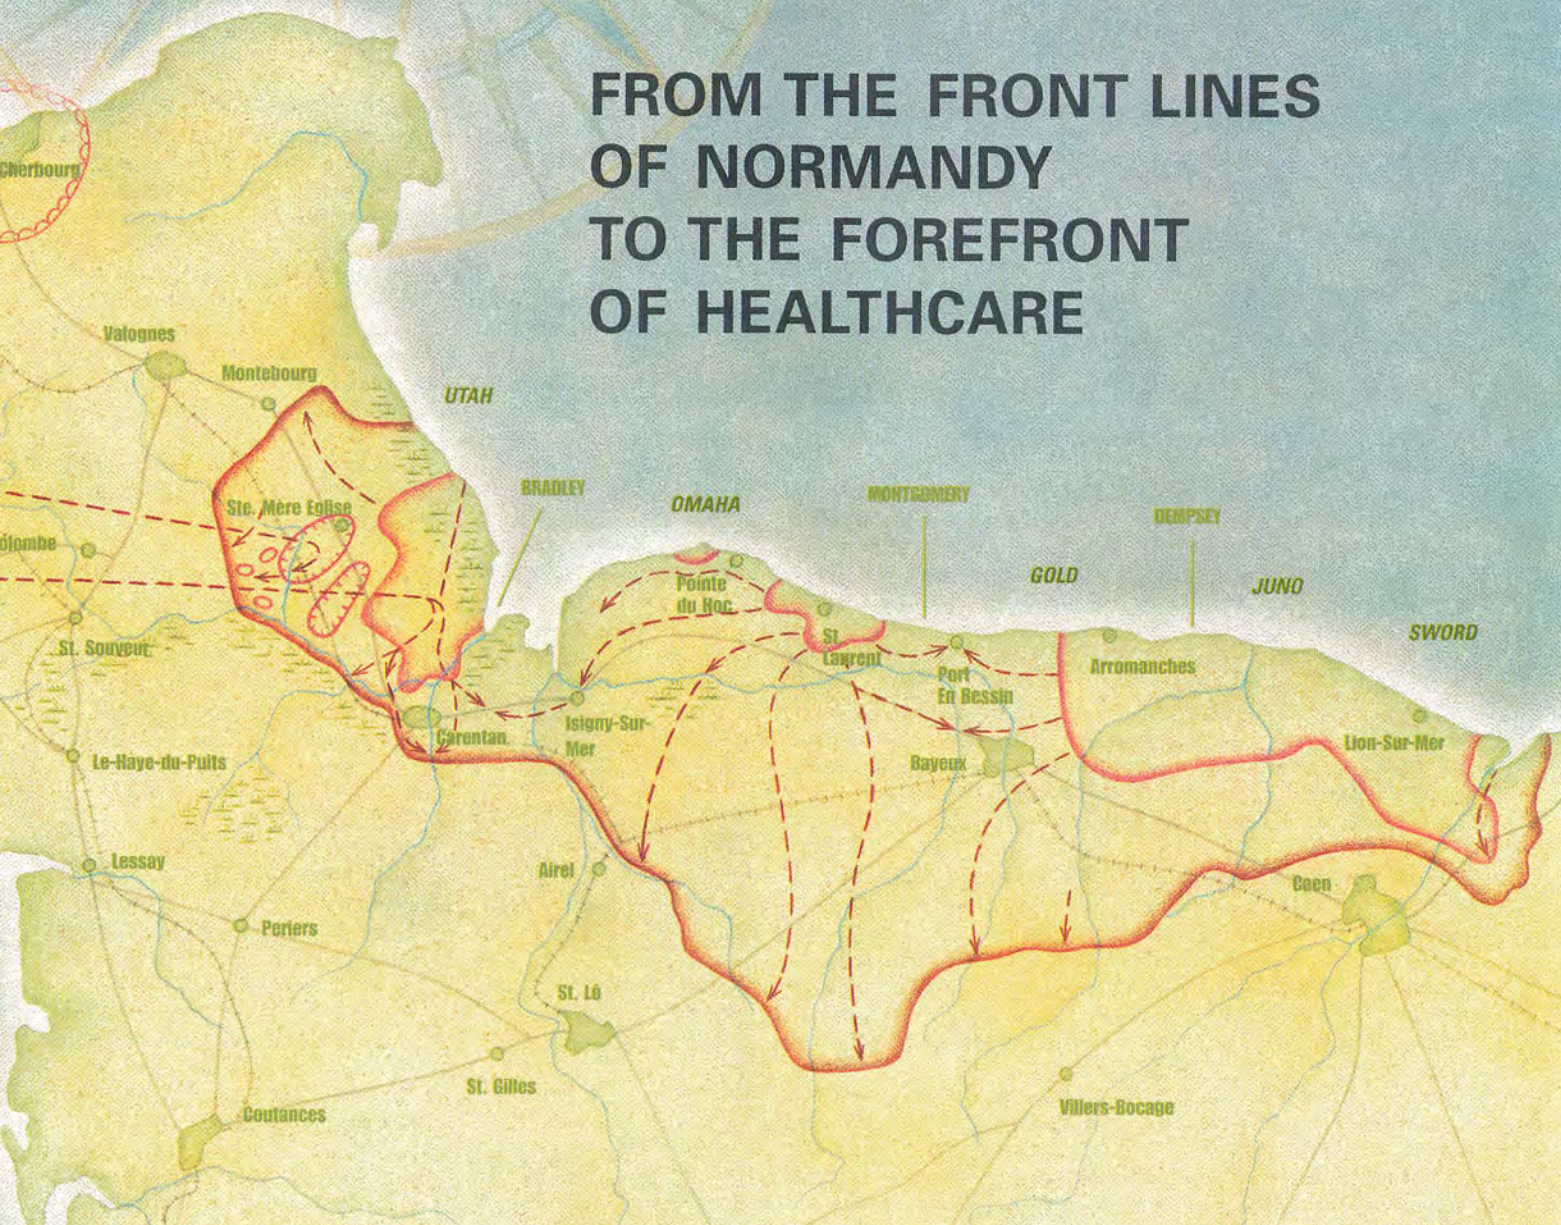

The Rip City Foundation's mission is to enhance lives through education and recreation with a special emphasis on healthy living in the geographical areas where Rip Hamilton has lived and played. Through the foundation, Hamilton has held basketball camps and clinics, coordinated an annual

PISTONS CAMPS AND CLINICS

THE DETROIT PISTONS PARTNER PROGRAM PRESENTS... "SKILLS FOR SUCCESS"

The Detroit Pistons are bringing their basketballs, jerseys, whistles and chalkboard as part of our complimentary "Skills For Success" Assembly to your school. Creating a championship environment among students, teachers, staff members and parents is the goal for this highly recognized and award-winning three-part program. The special events will be conducted by Steve Moreland, who is in his 12th year as the Detroit Pistons Director of Development and Basketball Camps/Clinics. The Pistons have appeared at over 1,100 schools statewide during the past 11 years.

Sharing our recipes for success as they relate to building a championship team, our topics will include: setting goals, being on time, working hard and practicing your skills, studying the game plan, playing the game and continuing to improve. Also as part of the fun, selected students and teachers will wear our Detroit Pistons jerseys as they demonstrate good sportsmanship during our Pistons shooting contest.

HERE ARE THE THREE PARTS TO THE PISTONS PARTNER PROGRAM:

For taking the first step in becoming a "Pistons Partner," your school will be awarded a complimentary afternoon Detroit Pistons "Skills For Success" Assembly conducted by "Coach Steve" and his staff. This year's presentation will help establish a successful foundation for learning and everyday living. You will receive an exclusive Detroit Pistons plaque acknowledging your school as a "Detroit Pistons Partner." This 40-minute assembly is available to the first 40 schools that register for the entire program.

The second step of the Pistons Partner Program consists of an after-school basketball clinic held in your school's gymnasium on the same day of the assembly. Our Pistons camp coaching staff will teach the ABC's of basketball to K-5 boys and girls during this 1-1/2 hour session. Clinic participants receive a free Pistons game ticket, a special Detroit Pistons T-shirt, a certificate of participation and various prizes for basketball skill contests.

*Investment for each clinic participant is only $25 (regular value of $62)

The $25 fee includes:

- A 1-1/2 hours clinic (regular price $20)
- Special Detroit Pistons T-shirt (regular $20)
- 1 regular season game ticket (regular $22)
- Pistons certificate of participation and prizes for contest winners

The third and final step of our Pistons Partnership with your school wouldn't be complete without an invitation for all students, faculty, families and friends to experience an authentic Pistons Game Day at The Palace of Auburn Hills. For only $15, all fans can attend a Pistons regular-season home game selected by your staff. Make this a memorable night for all to enjoy!

We will acknowledge your school during a pre-game presentation. Your Principal, a selected staff member and several students will represent your school down on the Pistons' home court prior to the game. After the ceremony, everyone can sit back and enjoy exhilarating, action-packed Pistons basketball!

To schedule dates and times for the Pistons Partner Program, please contact Curtis Rybski, Manager - Basketball Camps/Clinics, at (248) 377-8653. Assembly/clinic dates, times, and Pistons game dates are limited to the first 40 schools on a first-come, first-serve basis!

16 STATEWIDE 4-DAY YOUTH BASKETBALL CAMPS

The purpose of the Detroit Pistons Training Camp Tour is to impact youth and improve their skills in the game of basketball as well as in the game of life. A typical camp puts emphasis on the fundamental skills of basketball such as passing, shooting, ball handling, rebounding and defense. The coaching staff conducts contests such as: Hot Shot, Free Throws, Knock Out and Beat the Pro for campers to win trophies and prizes. Campers are also judged for week-long camp honors such as the Attitude Award, Hustle Award and the Most Valuable Player Award. Campers also play in action-packed games against players in their age range and of similar skill level.

Basketball is not the only topic of discussion during 4-day Pistons Training Camps. Life skills such as teamwork, building confidence, positive peer pressure, good work ethic and other topics that are important to today's youth are stressed and encouraged by staff members.

Over the past 11 years, the Pistons Training Camp Tour has reached more than 22,000 campers at camps statewide and in nearby Ohio. The camp has made stops in Ypsilanti, Battle Creek, Utica, Howell, Flint, Lansing, Cadillac, Midland, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Gaylord, Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Toledo, Traverse City, Holly, Fenton, Plymouth/Canton, Rochester, Lake Orion, Brighton, Hillsdale, Holt, West Bloomfield, Muskegon, Manchester, Coldwater and at the Palace of Auburn Hills.
